'I fell head over heels for Daisy and devoured this in a day REESE W

Taylor Jenkins Reid

"I devoured Daisy Jones & The Six in a day, falling head over heels for it. Taylor Jenkins Reid transported me into the magic of the '70s music scene in a way I'll never forget. The characters are beautifully layered and complex. Daisy and the band captured my heart, and they're sure to capture yours, too." - Reese Witherspoon

Daisy Jones & The Six Taylor Jenkins Reid

In 1979, Daisy Jones and The Six split up. Together, they had redefined the 70's music scene, creating an iconic sound that rocked the world. Apart, they baffled a world that had hung on their every verse.

This book is an attempt to piece together a clear portrait of the band's rise to fame and their abrupt and infamous split. The following oral history is a compilation of interviews, emails, transcripts, and lyrics, all pertaining to the personal and professional lives of the members of the band The Six and singer Daisy Jones.

All of which is to say that while this is the first and only authorised account from all represented perspectives, it should be noted that, in matters both big and small, reasonable people disagree.

The truth often lies, unclaimed, in the middle. A thrilling story told in the form of an extended oral history, Daisy Jones and the Six transports the reader to the world of '70's rock 'n roll; creative chaos, musical alchemy and an iconic sound.

Q&A WITH JONATHAN KELLERMAN

What led you to switch from psychology to fiction? I've been writing compulsively since the age of nine but saw it, at first, as a form of expression rather than as a job opportunity. I was also extremely fascinated by science, specifically biology and human behavior. When I got to college, the best outlet for that seemed to be a degree in psychology. As a senior at UCLA, I won a literary award and SCENE DO NOT CROSS COMME to you? Alex and I share some obvious features. We're both psychologists, driven and curious and compulsive. However, he's younger, leaner, more athletic, and betterlooking. Being a single guy, he can get into the kind of trouble a long-married father of four must avoid. Perhaps he's my Walter Mitty fantasy.

How similar is Alex Delaware

Who are your literary influences? James T. Farrell, Conan Doyle, Dumas, Verne, Ross McDonald. Stephen King will be read centuries from now - he's the Edgar Allan Poe of our generation. Elmore Leonard and Ruth Rendell are masters. Just a few among many.

Tracker is known far and wide for his skills as a hunter - and he always works alone. But when he is engaged to find a child who disappeared three years ago, he must break his own rules, joining a group of eight very different mercenaries working together to find the boy.

Following the lost boy's scent from one ancient city to another, into dense forests and across deep rivers, Tracker starts to wonder: Who is this boy? Why has he been missing for so long? Why do so many people want to keep Tracker from finding him? And most important of all, who is telling the truth and who is lying?

From the bestselling author of the Pursuit of Mappiness

The Great Wide Open Douglas Kennedy

It's 1980s New York. Heady, excessive times. Alice Burns – a young book editor - is deep into a manuscript about the morass of family life. The observations resonates, perhaps because she has just watched her own family implode. As she reads she wonders: When did the sadness start? And could it be that unhappiness is a choice? Thus begins a great American epic which follows Alice as she navigates high school bullying, first love and sexism at an elite college, a spell in 1970's Ireland, and a tragedy that sends her stateside as the US embraces a cowboy actor named Reagan. But it is also the tale of her endlessly complex parents and brothers; how their destinies are written by the lies they tell themselves and others.

IAN MCEWAN A NEW NOVEL

LIKE ME

Machines Like Me Ian McEwan

Machines Like Me occurs in an alternative 1980s London. Charlie is in love with Miranda, a bright student who lives with a terrible secret. When Charlie comes into money, he buys Adam, one of the first batch of synthetic humans. With Miranda's assistance, he co-designs Adam's personality. This near-perfect human is beautiful, strong and clever – a love triangle soon forms. These three beings will confront a profound moral dilemma.

Ian McEwan's new novel poses fundamental questions: what makes us human? Could a machine understand the human heart? This provocative and thrilling tale warns of the power to invent things beyond our control.

Britain has lost the Falklands war, Margaret Thatcher battles Tony Benn for power and Alan Turing achieves a breakthrough in artificial intelligence. In a world not quite like this one, two lovers will be tested beyond their understanding.

CAROL CAMPBELL

The Tortoise Cried its Only Tear Carol Campbell

It's a black Karoo night and a young woman covered in blood is running along a deserted dust track. Siena must reach Seekoegat Primary School, the only safe place she knows, but it's a long way to run, a three-day ride on a donkey cart.

As Siena runs, her story, and the story of her two friends, comes alive. Growing up with her in the margins were Boetie, neglected and wild, and Kriekie, whose mother worked the N1 truck-stops. When they meet again as grownups, the three must relive the devastating events that set them each on a new path.

All the while, a spectre moves through their tale: the Karoo tortoise, a creature which holds the wisdom of the ancient landscape and cries a single tear when it dies. Gripping and brushed with the magical, The Tortoise

Cried its Only Tear is Carol Campbell's third novel, and, like her award-winning debut, tells of the lives of the karretjiemense of the Great Karoo.

The Son of the House Cheluchi Onyemelukwe

When dramatic events worthy of a Nollywood movie force Nwabulu and Julie into an airless, sickly yellow room, the two women relate the stories of their very different lives. Orphaned at age ten. Nwabulu is forced to work as a housemaid. Her life becomes complicated when she falls in love with the son of a rich family.

Julie is privileged and educated, yet, at thirty-four, still adrift.

A decision she takes to change her situation will have lifelong ramifications.

Pulsing with vitality and intense human drama, Cheluchi Onyemelukwe-Onuobia's debut is a celebration of resilient women as they navigate and transform what remains a man's world.

LOCAL FICTION

The Zulus of New York Zakes Mda

The novel opens in 1885 with the hero, Em-Pee, in wintry New York, contemplating with distaste the melodramatic 'savage' performance of 'The Wild Zulu', in stark contrast to his own true history, so little understood here: 'His Zulu colleagues call him Mpi, which has become Em-Pee to the English-speakers.' His true name is not the only loss in this far, foreign country, and he is seen as little more than a freak-show act – though at least he is not kept in a cage like the beautiful Dinka Princess, with her gold-painted papier-mâché crown, and a patchwork cape of mink, otter and kodiak fur.

For Em-Pee, it is love at first sight, though she is not free to love anyone back: she is the property of Monsieur Duval, proprietor of Duval Ethnological Expositions.

And so begins one of Zakes Mda's most striking stories, a short novel but one that packs a powerful punch and will stir up strong feeling in its depiction of terrible real injustices and indignities, while at the same time celebrating the vigour and ingenuity of the creative spirit, and the transformative power of love.

Zakes Mda's glorious new novel draws on the true history of 'Farini's Friendly Zulus', men who were taken to Britain and then to America as performing curiosities.

But Deliver Us from Evil Lauri Kubuitsile

But Deliver Us from Evil tells the story of two young women whose lives converge at a crucial juncture. The story opens in 1870, when Nthebolang's father is unjustly accused of being a witch and sentenced to death. After he has been ritually thrown off a high cliff. Nthebolang and her mother are forced to flee.

Beatrice, a fair-skinned Koranna girl, has lost her parents to captors in ongoing conflicts with the white settlers. When she moves to the small village of Nstweng, she meets Nthebolang and the two strike up an unlikely friendship.

Here, a tightly menacing tale plays out. When Nthebolang's lover is accused of witchcraft, it seems as if her childhood is repeating itself all over again. Will she be able to save him, or will he meet the same fate as her father? And is Beatrice a friend in whom Nthebolang should place her trust. or not?

Wie is Carol Campbell?

Carol Campbell werk in die media en skryf romans in haar vrye tyd. Sy het Suid-Afrika se oorgang na demokrasie in 1994 as joernalis gedek en in die daaropvolgende jaar die Britse Raad-toekenning vir onderwysverslaggewing gewen. Haar eerste roman, die hoogaangeskrewe Karretjiemense (My Children Have Faces in Engels) verskyn in 2013. Daarna het sy 'n Huis vir Ester (Esther's House in Engels) in 2014 by Umuzi gepubliseer. Sy het as joernalis vir die Argus, die Cape Times en die Mercury gewerk. Sy woon tans in die Verenigde Koninkryk saam met haar gesin.

Die skilpad se laaste traan Carol Campbell

AFRIKAANSE

Hierdie roman vertel die verhaal van Siena, Boetie en Kriekie, wie se lewens sedert kinderdae nou verweef is. Boetie is verwilderd en verwaarloos, altyd besig met kattekwaad. Sy vriendskap met Siena laat hom egter sy selfwaarde besef. Kriekie is 'n wrak. Sy ma is 'n prostituut wat by die stilhouplekke langs die N1 werk en hy het skaars 'n huis. Wanneer sy ma, Dolly, nie terugkom nie, beland hy deur een vrou se goedhartigheid by Seekoegat Primêre Skool.

Die Karooskilpad se simboliese spore kan deur die hele roman gesien word. Siena se pa, 'n karretjiemens, het altyd gesê dat 'n skilpad die wysheid van die antieke landskap in hom dra. Daar word geglo dat 'n skilpad slegs een traan in sy leeftyd stort, die oomblik wanneer hy sterf.

Upheaval Jared Diamond

In his landmark international bestsellers Guns. Germs and Steel and Collapse, Jared Diamond transformed our understanding of what makes civilizations rise and fall. Now in the third book in this monumental trilogy, he reveals how successful nations recover from crisis.

Diamond shows us how seven countries have survived defining upheavals in the recent past. Looking ahead to the future, he investigates whether the United States, and the world, are squandering their natural advantages and are on a devastating path towards catastrophe.

Exhibiting the awe-inspiring grasp of history, geography, economics and anthropology that marks all Diamond's work, Upheaval reveals how both nations and individuals can become more resilient. The result is a book epic in scope, but also his most personal yet.

'South Alrica has been welling for its Alex Haley, who traced his family back through slavery and wrote the classic Roots ... A rich and moving account of Tema's family history." - Fred Morton

Land of My Ancestors Botlhale Tema

When working on the UNESCO Slave Route project in the early 2000s, Botlhale Tema discovered the extraordinary fact that her highly educated family from the farm Welgeval in the Pilanesberg had originated with two young men who had been child slaves in the mid-nineteenth century. She pieced together the fragments of information from relatives and members of the community, and scoured the archives to produce this book.

Land of My Ancestors, previously published as The People of Welgeval, tells the story of the two young men and their descendants, as they build a life for themselves on Welgeval. A new prologue and epilogue give more historical context to the narrative and tell the story of the land claim involving the farm, which happened after the book's original publication.

Youth Revolution Kiara Nirghin

Youth Revolution is the inspirational story of how Kiara Nirghin, a sixteenyear-old high-school student from Johannesburg, overcame severe health obstacles to win the grand prize at the 2016 International Google Science Fair for her unique and innovative solution to worldwide drought.

Youth Revolution not only covers her journey from the hospital bed to the international stage as the winner of the science award, but also looks at issues surrounding stagnant youth innovation, while considering the dangers of lacking diversity in STEM (science, technology, engineering and maths). The book includes contributions from prominent women in science and education, among them Malala Yousafzai, the Pakistani activist for female education and the youngest Nobel Prize laureate.

Youth Revolution is a deeply human and truly inspirational real-life story that will enthral teenagers and adults alike, proving that even 'ordinary' teenagers can do extraordinary things.

Radical Economic Transformation William Gumede

Radical economic transformation has become a slogan in South African political discourse, but what would it truly involve if implemented? The most successful case of radical economic transformation was found in the East Asian Tiger economies - countries such as South Korea, Singapore, Hong Kong and Taiwan. After the Second World War they were even poorer than African countries today, and within a generation they were among the world's most dynamic economies.

This book unpacks the radical economic transformations of the East Asian Tigers since their independence after the Second World War. Like many African and developing countries, most of them had been colonised and were then governed by liberation and independence movements. What have these countries done right, and what lessons can we learn from them? William Gumede is an associate professor in the School of Governance at the University of the Witwatersrand. He is executive chairperson of Democracy Works Foundation and former deputy editor of the Sowetan newspaper. He is the author of the bestselling Thabo Mbeki and the Battle for the Soul of the ANC.

The SABC8 Foeta Krige

In 2016, the country watched as eight journalists stood up to the public broadcaster to dissent against the censorship imposed by COO Hlaudi Motsoeneng and the capture of the newsroom. They would become known as the SABC8. While many may remember the headlines, photos and footage that circulated during that time, few know the real story: the way lives were changed while history was being made.

Now Foeta Krige, one of the SABC8. shares his version of events: how it came about that eight very different journalists from within the public broadcaster, each one with their own unique background and motivation, were brought together by sheer coincidence to fight the mighty SABC in the name of media freedom. This forms the backdrop for a lesser-known story - one of death threats, intimidation, assault and the eventual death of Suna Venter Krige takes the reader back to the day when everything started, telling the gripping, and often harrowing, story behind the sensational headlines.

CASEY CEP FURIOUS HOURS Harper Lee and an Unfinished Story of Race, Religion and Murder

FINAL COVER TO COME

Furious Hours Casey Cep

In 1977, prominent Alabama lawyer Tom Radney cold-called Harper Lee and asked whether she might be interested in writing about a peculiar case he'd just finished working on. It involved a man named Willie Maxwell, a black preacher who killed at least five of his relatives, and Robert Burns, a younger black Vietnam vet who assassinated Maxwell. Radney defended first Maxwell and then Burns and got them both off of first-degree murder charges

It turns out that Harper Lee was very interested in this story.

Furious Hours is the true-crime story based on these events, and the story of Harper Lee's later years as a writer - and, with that, a major revision to what we think we know about an iconic American writer.

South Africa's Greatest Bowlers Ali Bacher and David Williams

The South African cricket team has always had a formidable bowling attack, feared by batsmen around the world. Kagiso Rabada appears near the top of the recent ICC rankings, and previous teams and generations have included their own legends. But who are the greatest of them all?

Following the success of their books on all-rounders and batsmen. Ali Bacher and David Williams now turn their attention to South Africa's top bowlers. The book features early legends such as Hugh Tayfield, Neil Adcock and Peter Pollock; postisolation stars Allan Donald, Fanie de Villiers, Makhaya Ntini and Paul Adams; and recent speedsters Morne Morkel, Dale Steyn, Vernon Philander and Kagiso Rabada. It also considers players who, but for apartheid, might have been their equals.

Bass Fishing in South Africa Gareth Coombs

The goal of any fisherman is to catch fish! However, this is not always as simple as casting a line or throwing a net into the water. Some fish are wily, and know how to avoid the hooks, lures or bait that have been set for them. Knowing how a fish might behave in specific weather conditions, or at certain times of the year, improves the angler's chance of making a catch.

Gareth Coombs has experienced the frustration and the pleasure of trying to catch this predatory sportfish. Bass Fishing in South Africa is his response to years of patiently studying currents, wind, air temperature and the underwater landscape, in order to understand the behaviour, sensory capabilities and nesting habits of largemouth black bass. His approach will delight bass fishermen and freshwater anglers who are facing the challenge of catching largemouth.

BIOGRAPHIES

Class Action Charles Abrahams

Charles Abrahams has spearheaded class-action lawsuits to defend the vulnerable and oppressed, but as a child he experienced oppression himself in the most visceral way.

In this remarkable memoir, Charles recounts his poverty-stricken youth on the Cape Flats, amidst habitual gang fights and domestic violence. In the tiny home he shared with ten siblings, his father abused his mother, while at school he and other learners were brutalised by teachers and subjected to inferior 'Bantu education'.

Growing increasingly resilient and resistant, Charles joined the school boycotts of the late 1980s, educated himself through relentless reading, and succeeded in studying at university and qualifying as a lawyer. He made a living defending local gangsters, until a scholarship took him to the Netherlands to study international law. There, in the seedy streets of Amsterdam, he confronted the racial and sexual scars of his past.

Charles returned to South Africa determined to use class-action lawsuits as a weapon of social justice. He sued multinationals in New York for supporting the apartheid government, took on food companies for fixing the price of bread, and secured a R5-billion settlement from South Africa's goldmining industry for miners suffering from silicosis and tuberculosis.

Class Action is the honest, insightful and inspiring story of a man who wrestled with oppression and resolved to keep fighting it.

THE LAST ELEPHANTS Compiled by Don Pinnock & Colin Bell Foreword by HRH Prince William, Duke of Cambridge

The Last Elephants Compiled by Don Pinnock, Colin Bell

Elephants are killed, on average, every 15-20 minutes - a situation that will see the final demise of these intelligent, extraordinary animals in less than three decades. They are a species in crisis.

This magnificent book offers chapters written by the most prominent people in the realm of conservation and wildlife, among them researchers, conservationists, film makers, criminologists, TV personalities and journalists. The spectacular photographs have been selected from among Africa's best wildlife photographers, and the Foreword is provided by Prince William.

It is hoped this book will create awareness of the devastating loss of elephant lives in Africa and stem the tide of poaching and hunting.

The Last Elephants – is the title prophetic? We hope not, but the signs are worrying.

Spice Odyssey Cariema Isaacs

Cariema Isaacs's affinity for spices emanates from her Cape Malay heritage and her time spent cooking and baking in her grandmother's kitchen in Bo-Kaap, the Cape Malay Quarter in Cape Town. Thus, at a very early age she understood the tastes derived from cumin and coriander, the pungency of fennel, cloves and star anise, and the piquancy of chilli powder, cayenne pepper and masala blends.

Spice Odyssey showcases a multitude of beautifully written recipes with some familiar spices from her Cape Malay heritage and fresh aromatics from her travels to India, Turkey, Malaysia, Sri Lanka and the Middle East.
