The Secrets We Kept Lara Prescott

1956. A celebrated Russian author is writing a book, Doctor Zhivago, which could spark dissent in the Soviet Union. The Soviets, afraid of its subversive power, ban it. But in the rest of the world it's fast becoming a sensation.

The CIA plans to use the book to tip the Cold War in its favour.

Their agents are not the usual spies, however. Two typists – the charming, experienced Sally and the talented novice Irina – are charged with the mission of a lifetime: to smuggle Doctor Zhivago back into Russia by any means necessary.

It will not be easy. There are people willing to die for this book – and agents willing to kill for it. But they cannot fail – as this book has the power to change history.

A banned masterpiece.
Two female spies.
A book that changed history.

The Travelers

Regina Porter

James Vincent is born in 1942 to a working class white couple whose marriage was already on the rocks. James struggles to move beyond a difficult childhood and escapes the violence at home to attend law school in Michigan, where he begins to envision his future as prosperous and bright.

Meanwhile, on a rural road in Georgia, Agnes Miller, a black woman on her first date with a handsome suitor, is pulled over by the police, and the terrible moments that follow make her question whether she will have a future at all. As the years unspool ahead of them, unexpected turns of fate will connect these two lives and their families: two Americans who each come up against the forces of race, class, and gender that change – and end – ordinary lives.

Trade paperback • R290 • 9781787331013 • July

An astonishing debut novel that bears witness to the Civil Rights movement, the Vietnam War and the first term of Obama's presidency, The Travelers is both an intimate family portrait and a searing examination of America today.

Ask Again, Yes

Mary Beth Keane

Gillam, upstate New York: a town of ordinary, big-lawned suburban houses. The Gleesons have recently moved there and soon welcome the Stanhopes as their new neighbours. Lonely Lena Gleeson wants a friend but Anne Stanhope – cold, elegant, unstable – wants to be left alone.

It's left to their children – Lena's youngest, Kate, and Anne's only child, Peter – to find their way to one another. To form a friendship whose resilience and love will be almost broken by the fault line dividing both families, and by the terrible tragedy that will engulf them all. A tragedy whose true origins only become clear many years later...

The Grace Year

Kim Liggett

Tierney James lives in an isolated village where girls are banished at sixteen to the northern forest to brave the wilderness – and each other – for a year. They must rid themselves of their dangerous magic before returning purified and ready to marry – if they're lucky.

It is forbidden to speak of the grace year, but even so every girl knows that the coming year will change them – if they survive it...

The Grace Year is The Handmaid's Tale meets Lord of the Flies – a page-turning feminist dystopia about a young woman trapped in an oppressive society, fighting to take control of her own life.

Harry Hole faces a deadly foe in the new thriller from Sunday Times number one bestseller Jo Nesbo.

Q&A WITH JO NESBO

What were your favourite books as a child? The first novel my father read to me was Lord of the Flies. My father wasn't too sure if it was suitable for a boy aged just seven, but I insisted. Why? Because of the cover: a blood-dripping pig's head on a stake.

Did you always want to be a writer when you were younger? Yes, I guess I did. As I listened to my father read, I knew I wanted to try and write myself. I was already impressing kids my own age, even slightly older ones, with my gruesome ghost stories.

You haven't always been a writer. Which of your previous jobs has been your favourite?

I love performing almost as much as writing. Working as an economist was... well, work.

My favourite previous job was as a taxi driver, I guess I like observing people.

Who (or what) inspired you to create the character of Harry Hole? It was so many things.

A friend; a drunkard I often drove around when I was working as a taxi driver in my small home town; myself; and other characters from fiction.

Big Sky
Kate Atkinson

Jackson Brodie has relocated to a quiet seaside village, in the occasional company of his recalcitrant teenage son and an ageing Labrador, both at the discretion of his ex-partner Julia. It's picturesque, but there's something darker lurking behind the scenes.

Jackson's current job, gathering proof of an unfaithful husband for his suspicious wife, is fairly standard-issue, but a chance encounter with a desperate man on a crumbling cliff leads him into a sinister network – and back across the path of someone from his past. Old secrets and new lies intersect in this breathtaking novel by one of the most dazzling and surprising writers at work today.

Train Man Andrew Mulligan

Michael is a broken man. He's waiting for the 9.46 to Gloucester, so as to reach Crewe for 11.22: the platforms are long at Crewe, and he can walk easily into the path of a high-speed train to London. He's planned it all: a net of tangerines (for when the refreshments trolley is cancelled), and a juice carton filled with neat whisky (for Dutch courage). He has his last credit card taped to the inside of his shoe – and that should make identification swift and easy.

What Michael hasn't factored in is the twelve minute delay, which risks him missing his connection, and making new ones.

Journeys intersect. People find people when and where they least expect it. A missed connection needn't be a disaster: it can save your life.

The Starless Sea Erin Morgenstern

Zachary Ezra Rawlins is a graduate student in Vermont when he discovers a strange book hidden in the library stacks. As he turns the pages, entranced by tales of lovelorn prisoners, key collectors, and nameless acolytes, he reads something strange: a story from his own childhood. Bewildered by this inexplicable book and desperate to make sense of how his own life came to be recorded, Zachary uncovers a series of clues – a bee, a key and a sword – that lead him to a masquerade party in New York, to a secret club, and through a doorway to a subterranean library, hidden far below the surface of the earth.

What Zachary finds in this curious place is more than just a buried home for books and their guardians – it is a place of lost cities and seas, lovers who pass notes under doors and across time, and of stories whispered by the dead.

Together with Mirabel, a fierce, pink-haired protector of the place, and Dorian, a handsome barefoot man with shifting alliances, Zachary travels the twisting tunnels, darkened stairwells, crowded ballrooms, and sweetly-soaked shores of this magical world, discovering his purpose – in both the mysterious book and in his own life.

As If Born to You

Susan Newham-Blake

When thirteen-year-old Zuri begins cutting herself, psychologist Ana is called in to help. Is the troubled girl trying to relieve the tension of being black in a predominantly white private school in the early days of South Africa's democracy? And how healthy is Zuri's relationship with Helen, the white single mom who adopted her?

Struggling to soften Zuri's defences during the course of the therapy, Ana must piece together the puzzles of both Helen and her daughter, including the truth of what happened to Zuri's biological mother.

But reckless, alcoholic Ana carries within her an old trauma of her own.

In Susan Newham Blake's moving novel two women, equally damaged by the past and its secrets, discover that healing sometimes lies in unexpected places.

The Longest March

Fred Khumalo

It's 1899 and Philippa's fiancé Nduku has just broken off their engagement. She is heartbroken – after all, she has followed him from Kimberley, where they first met, to the goldfields of Johannesburg.

In this bustling new city, tensions are mounting between the South African Republic and the gold-hungry British Empire. When war is declared, the mines are shut down and migrant workers ordered to leave town.

But how do you get home and out of harm's way when there are no running trains and home is hundreds of kilometres away? You walk.

Over perilous terrain Nduku and Philippa and seven thousand others walk to Natal. Disguised as a mineworker's wife, for Philippa is white, she and Nduku talk about their true histories, about their fears and hopes, and with every footfall the possibility of lasting happiness seems within reach – if only they can survive, and if only they can weather the storm of an unexpected third player in their troubled romance.

Set during an incredible event in South African history, The Longest March is a tale of heady determination, and a tribute to the perseverance and courage of ordinary men and women when faced with extraordinary circumstances.

Death on the Limpopo

Sally Andrew

Tannie Maria might be the Karoo's favourite agony aunt, but when it comes to matters of her own heart, she doesn't have all the answers. Why is she having trouble telling her beau – the dashing Detective Henk Kannemeyer with the chestnut moustache – that she loves him?

There are other, more pressing problems too. A tall, dark stranger zoomed in on her Ducati motorbike: she is Zabanguni Kani, a journalist renowned for her political exposés, who, after receiving threats, must move in with Tannie Maria for safety.

Who could tell that a trip to the country's northern borders was on the cards? The journey will plunge Maria and her friends into pools of danger, amid water maidens, murders, and Harley Davidsons.

Ladismith's famous crime fighter is back – with a tin of buttermilk rusks in hand – to restore peace from the Klein Karoo to the great Limpopo River.

In the Midst of Wolves

Kurt Ellis

Nick Creed, expert criminal profiler, hunts down human monsters for a living. Back in South Africa after working with the FBI, he is haunted by past mistakes, including the death of his fiancée. When a young woman is murdered and dismembered in her Johannesburg apartment, Creed's long-time friend and head of the SAPS' Investigative Psychological Unit, Major Eli Grey, enlists his help in the investigation – an attempt to save the self-destructing Creed from himself. But not all the Unit's members welcome his involvement, and there are those intent on exposing his secrets.

The victim's community are convinced she was killed by a witch called Nomthakathi, but Creed's hunch points to an angry ex-boyfriend. When a severed hand turns up at a violent miners' strike, a muti killing becomes a possibility. Who, or what, is really behind the murder? Could it be Nomthakathi, who believes Nick Creed is uSatane?

In the Midst of Wolves is a dark psychological thriller in which African myths and Western beliefs intertwine, about metaphorical demons from the past and living monsters that target the innocent.

The Eyes of the Naked

Litha Hermanus

Nakedi Solomon has hit hard times. Divorced from radio-producer Kele, the estranged mother of his young son, he's resorted to working as an airport shuttle driver in Johannesburg to make ends meet.

After becoming embroiled in the robbery of two tourists, Nakedi flees to the Eastern Cape, taking his son Donovan with him without Kele's knowledge.

On reaching Mthatha, he finds that his younger brother Buntu has run away from home and might have gone to a fake and dangerous circumcision school.

Drawn into the search for his brother while running from the law, Nakedi must delve the bedrock of South African society. While grappling with questions of manhood and fatherhood, a new man awakens inside him on this unexpected journey.

A Sin of Omission

Marguerite Poland

'It is hard to be an exile ... But it is harder to return.'

Through the hills and dales of the Eastern Cape, Stephen (Malusi) Mzamane, a young Anglican priest, must journey to his mother's rural home to inform her of his elder brother's death.

First educated at the Native College in Grahamstown, Stephen was sent to England in 1869 for training at the Missionary College in Canterbury. But on his return to South Africa, relegated to a remote, dilapidated mission near Fort Beaufort, he had to confront not only the prejudices of a colonial society but the insidious discrimination within the Church itself.

Increasingly conflicted between his loyalties to the amaNgqika people, for whom his brother fought, and the colonial cause he as Reverend Mzamane is expected to uphold, Stephen's journey to his mother's home proves decisive in resolving the contradictions that tear at his heart.

This novel is based on a real historical character.

Borderline

Marita van der Vyver

A blood-stained letter among her deceased ex-husband's belongings rips open Theresa's world. For years she has turned her back on Theo, a man who spent the last two decades of his life institutionalised, and on their shared past in a country where teenage boys were conscripted in the Seventies to fight a foreign war that those back home knew little about.

Realising that the letter entrusted to Theo was written by a dying Cuban soldier and addressed to the soldier's newborn child – who, if still alive, should be forty years old – Theresa heads for Cuba: to find the soldier's child, to deliver the letter, to atone for Theo.

In sultry, run-down Cuba, amid its picturesque 1950s cars and the fragrant smoke of its cigars, Theresa's search connects her intimately with those branded 'the enemy' in Angola as she begins to unravel what growing up in the South Africa of that time really meant.

AFRIKAANSE FIKSIE

Zola

Johan Jack Smith

Die hel is los in Johannesburg se strate. Iemand is besig om jong meisies wreed af te maai en die bloedspoor wat hy agterlaat, sê: “Reeksmoorde”.

Die stapel slagoffers raak kaptein David Majola en adjudant Jason Basson se gemors.

Kaptein Majola: 'n man deurmekaar met wit lyne en opgerolde geldnote wie se ma en suster steeds in die township sit en kreppeer.

Adjudant Basson: die tipe polisieman wat veel eerder die Mag jare gelede vaarwel moes roep.

Terwyl koerante en politici blaf en die taxibase met 'n verwoestende staking dreig, moet Majola en Basson duiwels in 'n malse stad trotseer.

Noorman

SD Fourie

Dit was die arbeiderskind Louisa van die buurplaas wat sy lewe red toe hy ná daardie verskriklike nag deurmekaar in die kloof kom skuil het. Hier, by die waterval, doop sy hom Noorman.

Louisa en die ander mense van die distrik raak onlosmaaklik deel van sy lewe. Op die buurplaas bloos die boervrou Maria oor die eerste keer toe sy van dié fors rooikopman bewus raak, al het sy haar oog op die stuk grond waar hy woon.

'n Gekorswel oor water in dié droë streek dryf Noorman se verhouding met sy bure op die spits, 'n geveg waartydens die Joodse winkelier Abram Levinson en sy dogter Sara sy enigste vriende blyk te wees.

Maar wie kon ooit die stortvloed van verandering ná die verkiesing van '48 vir die mense om die waterval voorspel?

SD Fourie blaas met Noorman lewe in die ryk geskiedenis van die Strandveld.

By die brandende berg

Piet van Rooyen

JJ van Solms, so hardegat soos wat hy hardwerkend is, se rykdom lê in Afrika se kobaltriwwe. In die Kongo vestig hy 'n myn saam met twee vennote, maar toe die geld begin inrol, raak hy vir hulle oorbodig. Ná 'n aanslag op sy lewe moet hy vlug.

Dit is naby die Brandberg in Namibië waar JJ saam met sy gesin skuiling soek. Hier probeer hy 'n sukkelende tantalietyd en sy mislukte huwelik red.

In die skaduwee van die alomteenwoordige Brandberg wat oor die landskap waak, wonder hy wat sy lot sal bepaal: diegene op sy spoor, of die vrees en paranoia wat aan sy gemoed vreet.

Grensgeval

Marita van der Vyver

Die bloedbevleekte brief wat Theresa tussen haar eksman Theo se besittings ná sy dood ontdek, skeur haar lewe oop. Vir jare het sy haar rug op Theo gedraai, 'n man wat sy laaste twee dekades in 'n inrigting moes deurbring. Só ook het sy die land se verlede weggestoot, die tyd toe tienerseuns gestuur is om op die Grens te veg – 'n plek en 'n oorlog waarvan mense tuis bittermin geweet het. Vir Theresa self was dit 'n tydperk van eerste liefdes, disko's en vakansies by die see.

Theresa besef gou die brief aan Theo toevertrou is deur 'n sterwende Kubaanse soldaat geskryf en aan sy pasgebore kind gerig – iemand wat, indien hy of sy nog leef, nou reeds veertig jaar oud sal wees. Theresa weet in haar siel sy moet Kuba toe: om die soldaat se kind te vind, om die brief te besorg, om vir Theo en ook vir haaër boete te doen.

In die swoelende, afgeleefde Kuba, tussen sy kleurryke motors uit die vyftigerjare en geurige sigaarrook, vervleg Theresa se lewe intiem met diegene wat in Angola as “die vyand” gebrandmerk is. Só ontrafel sy wat dit beteken het om groot te word in die Suid-Afrika van daardie tyd.

Lukas probeer haar help. Hy is haar steunpilaar en mentor, en die man op wie sy verlief is. Ook hý moet veg om 'n greep op sy verlede te kry.

Maar die bedreiging is nie net in Maryke se kop nie: Vreemde briewe en onheilspellende geskenke maak dit duidelik dat iemand haar dophou. Iemand wat enigiets sal doen – miskien selfs sal moor – om seker te maak sy onthou.

NON-FICTION

Talking To Strangers Malcolm Gladwell

Talking to Strangers is all about what happens when we encounter people we don't know, why it often goes awry, and what it says about us.

How do we make sense of the unfamiliar? Why are we so bad at judging someone, reading a face, or detecting a lie? Why do we so often fail to 'get' other people?

Through a series of puzzles, encounters and misunderstandings, from littleknown stories to infamous legal cases, Gladwell takes us on a journey through the unexpected. You will read about the spy who spent years undetected at the highest levels of the Pentagon, the man who saw through the fraudster Bernie Madoff, the suicide of the poet Sylvia Plath and the false conviction of Amanda Knox. You will discover that strangers are never simple.

Trade paperback • R320 • 9780241351574 • September

The No.1 international bestselling author back with a powerful and provocative exploration of what our interactions with strangers tell us about who we are.

Malcolm Gladwell

Author, journalist, cultural commentator and intellectual adventurer, MALCOLM GLADWELL is a staff writer for the New Yorker magazine. His first book The Tipping Point captured the world's attention with its theory that a curiously small change can have unforeseen effects. His other international bestselling books are Outliers, which looks at the stories of exceptional individuals and reveals the secrets of their success, Blink: The Power of Thinking Without Thinking and What The Dog Saw, a collection of his most provocative and entertaining New Yorker pieces.

The Body: A Guide for Occupants

Bill Bryson

Bill Bryson turns his attention inwards to explore the human body, how it functions and its remarkable ability to heal itself. Full of extraordinary facts and astonishing stories The Body: A Guide for Occupants is a brilliant, often very funny attempt to understand the miracle of our physical and neurological make up.

A wonderful successor to A Short History of Nearly Everything, this book will have you marvelling at the form you occupy, and celebrating the genius of your existence, time and time again.

As compulsively readable as it is comprehensive, this is Bryson at his very best: a must-read owner's manual for everybody.

We are the Weather

Jonathan Safran Foer

Most books about the environmental crisis are densely academic, depressingly doom-laden and crammed with impersonal statistics. We are the Weather is different – accessible, immediate and with a single clear solution that individual readers can put into practice straight away.

A significant proportion of global carbon emissions come from farming meat. Just changing our dinners – cutting out meat for one meal per day – is enough to change the world.

With his distinctive wit, insight and humanity, Foer frames this essential debate as no one else could, bringing it to vivid and urgent life.

He edited the anthology A Convergence of Birds: Original Fiction and Poetry Inspired by the Work of Joseph Cornell, and his stories have been published in the Paris Review, Conjunctions and the New Yorker. Jonathan Safran Foer teaches Creative Writing at New York University.

Sorry I'm Late, I Didn't Want to Come Jessica Pan

What would happen if a shy introvert lived like a gregarious extrovert for one year? If she knowingly and willingly put herself in perilous social situations that she'd normally avoid at all costs? Jessica Pan is going to find out.

When she found herself jobless and friendless, sitting in the familiar Jess-shaped crease on her sofa, she couldn't help but wonder what life might have looked like if she had been a little more open to new experiences and new people. So, she made a vow: to push herself to live the life of an extrovert for a year. She wrote a list: improv, a solo holiday and... talking to strangers on the tube. She regretted it instantly.

Angolsh Greg Latter

In early 1976 while working underground as a blaster on ERPM gold mine in Boksburg, Greg Latter was called up for a three-month army camp in Angola, and there was no getting out of it. The truth is, he was actually keen to go. This story is about those three months, told from the day he received his call-up telegram to the day after he got back.

There is nothing gung-ho in the pages of this book. It's mainly about the cock-ups, of which there were countless, the major one involving Greg himself. It's also about the kak food and contraband dagga, the rumours and the confusion, the stubborn dirt and the stifling heat, local Angolans and Portuguese refugees, tough guys and tortured souls.

Written with humour and humanity, Angolsh evokes the atmosphere of the 1970s and tells the story of a man coming of age.

Voices from the Underground Shirley Gunn and Shanil Haricharan

Voices from the Underground takes the reader inside the ANC's military underground in the mid- to late 1980s, during the height of the apartheid regime's violent crackdown on political activism.

In this book, eighteen members of Umkhonto we Sizwe's Ashley Kriel Detachment, which operated primarily in the Western Cape, tell their stories for the first time.

From smuggling arms across the Botswana border to setting off a limpet mine inside the Castle of Good Hope, participants in the armed struggle speak about the operations they carried out, the tactics they employed, the victories they achieved and the hardships they endured, including the deaths of comrades at the hands of the police and the immense burden of living a double life.

Kammaland

Annelie Botes

Weinig mense spit diep in hulle spaargeld in, sluit hulle huis en klim vir drie maande van afsondering op 'n kanaalboot in die verre Engeland. Sonder geselskap. Sonder ervaring. Sonder 'n bootliksens. Sonder die voorwete dat alles goed sal afloop.

Annelie en die ou gryse het besluit om die kanaalpad te vat en reg in die snerpende winter in te vaar. Om te toets wat hulle ná vier-en-veertig jaar van saamwees in mekaar oorhet. Om herinneringe te vergaar vir die stil dae op die ouetehuisstoep. En om mekaar vergifnis te gee vir sovele sondes. Min sou hulle kon voorsien dat die reis van hosannas ook 'n reis van tappende ontberings en rasperende emosies sou wees. Maar tot op die een-en-neëntigste dag het hulle vasgehou aan die idille. En aan mekaar. In Kammaland is die supergewilde Annelie Botes terug met 'n vertelling wat al die kenmerke dra waarvoor haar aanhangers haar koester.

Stokvels

Palesa Lengolo

At present there are 11.4 million South Africans who are members of stokvels; around R44 billion is pooled collectively by ordinary people in stokvels; and it is saved by 820 000 stokvels.

This book will appeal to readers who are already in a stokvel, those who want to be in one, and even those who never thought of joining one. It contains all the necessary information you need about this form of investment, including: how to set up a stokvel and the admin involved in running one; the opportunities within stokvels and the possible collaborations with other institutions; real people's experiences with stokvels; and the challenges and future landscape of stokvels. Most importantly, it explains how an individual can make money by being part of a stokvel.

Gardening with Keith Kirsten

Keith Kirsten

The fourth edition of this popular title has been given a completely new look, but it remains the same practical illustrated guide that is a must-have for all gardeners. The text has been updated to incorporate more indigenous species, locally bred hybrids, and waterwise plants, in keeping with changing trends that recognise the importance of gardening in harmony with the natural environment. The bulk of the book comprises directories that describe over 2,000 plants with each entry accompanied by symbols that depict the ideal growing conditions. A brief introduction covers garden planning and design, maintenance, and how to deal with pests and diseases.

BIOGRAPHIES

Wham!: George and Me Andrew Ridgeley

Wham! were the band that never underestimated the power of pop, nor the healing powers it possessed.

In 1981, what started out as a boyhood friendship, catapulted two suburban adolescents to worldwide pop domination, becoming icons of their era. While Andrew Ridgeley may have appeared to have stood in George Michael's shadow, he always stood at the heart of the band.

Until now, Andrew has kept private the special memories of life as a pop sensation. In this tender retelling of life as one half of the iconic duo, Andrew reveals the truth behind the triumphs, heartbreaks and of course, the fierce friendship with George that endured it all.

Trade paperback • R320 • 9780241385814 • November

The long-awaited and lovingly told story of Andrew, George and their time together as WHAM!

The author

Andrew Ridgeley is one of the most recognisable faces of the eighties. He was one half of the phenomenal pop duo, WHAM!, one of the biggest names in the history of pop music. Born in Surrey, England, he grew up in Bushey, Hertfordshire where he met George Michael whilst attending Bushey Meads School; they struck up an easy friendship – both having a common interest in music – before forming WHAM! The band sold multi-platinum albums and singles globally, having number 1 hits all over the world including both the UK and the US. Andrew now pursues a variety of interests, significant amongst which is fundraising for The Dallaglio RugbyWorks Charity. He splits his time between his homes in Cornwall and London.

Mrs Escobar Victoria Eugenia Henao

The story of Pablo Escobar, one of the wealthiest, powerful and violent criminals of all time has fascinated the world. Yet the one person closest to him has never spoken out – until now. Maria Victoria Henao met Pablo when she was 13, eloped with him at 15, and despite his numerous infidelities and violence, stayed by his side for the following 16 years until his death.

On the 25th anniversary of Pablo's death, the most intriguing character in the Escobar narrative is ready to share her story and reveal the real man behind the legend.

Suiker Britz

Anemari Jansen & Stefaans Coetzee

Toe die legendariese Suiker Britz homself in 2018 om die lewe gebring het, het die einde van 'n era aangebreek – 'n tydvak waarin ouskool-polisiemanne se reputasie gebou was op ongelooflike suksesse in die bekamping van misdaad.

In sy luisterryke loopbaan as polisieman en speurder, en as hoof van die Suid-Afrikaanse Polisie se moord-en-roofeenheid, was Britz as ondersoeker betrokke by misdade wat die samelewing tot in sy fundamente geskud het.

In hierdie boek probeer die skrywers 'n beeld van die man agter die legende kry deur die soeklig op sake waarby hy betrokke was te laat val. En die beeld wat na vore kom is dié van 'n passievolle speurder wat uitsonderlike prestasies in sy loopbaan behaal het, maar hy was ook 'n gewone mens met unieke tekortkominge.

Wild Game

Adrienne Brodeur

On a hot August night on Cape Cod, when Adrienne was 14, her mother Malabar woke her at midnight with five simple words that would set the course of both of their lives for years to come: Ben Souther just kissed me.

Adrienne instantly became her mother's confidante, blossoming in the sudden light of her attention; from then on, Malabar came to rely on her daughter to help orchestrate what would become an epic affair with her husband's closest friend. The affair would have calamitous consequences for everyone involved, impacting Adrienne's life in profound ways, driving her into a doomed marriage of her own, and then into a deep depression. Only years later will she find the strength to embrace her life – and her mother – on her own terms.

Bassie – My Journey of Hope Basetsana Kumalo

Basetsana Kumalo (née Makgalemele) shot to fame as a fresh-faced Miss South Africa in 1994 and soon became the face of South Africa's new democracy. As the first black presenter of the glamorous lifestyle TV show Top Billing, she travelled the world and interviewed superstars like Oprah Winfrey, Michael Jackson, Jon Bon Jovi, Will Smith, the Bee Gees, Gloria Estefan and Luther Vandross.

After a successful career in television, Bassie's drive and ambition took her into the world of business. The street savvy that her entrepreneurial mother gave her stood her in good stead as she built a media empire. When she married the handsome businessman Romeo Kumalo in a fairytale wedding, they became South Africa's sweethearts and 'it' couple.

Bassie – My Journey of Hope recounts the stories of Bassie's life as a celebrity, including her relationships with mentors like Nelson Mandela, Winnie Madikizela-Mandela and Graça Machel. She also shares the secrets of her success and all the lessons she's learnt along the way, and opens up about the pressures of her high-profile marriage to Romeo, their heartbreaking struggle to have a family, and how they made sure that their loving and respectful union has lasted two decades.

Bassie also talks frankly about the domestic abuse she suffered at the hands of boxer Dinga Thobela and the legal battles she had to fight to protect her name and her brand over the years. She gives her account of the stalker who harassed her for decades, and the non-existent 'sex-tape' allegation that rocked her family and career, leading to painful experiences of cyber-bullying.

It is an intimate, inspiring and entertaining account of a remarkable life.

Cradle of Life – The Story of the Magaliesberg and the Cradle of Humankind

Vincent Carruthers

The Cradle of Humankind World Heritage Site, situated in the heart of the Magaliesberg Biosphere Reserve, is the jewel in South Africa's evolutionary crown. An area 'of outstanding universal value', it has attracted worldwide interest and furnished key evidence about where, when and how we came to be.

In his spectacular new title, Vincent Carruthers guides readers along a timeline, from the birth of our planet through to developments of the twenty-first century. Along the way he documents the formation of our landscapes and the emergence of life, the rise of hominins, the stone and iron ages, early settlement, migrations, wars and modern developments in the Magaliesberg – the entire evolution of life up to the present, as we know it.

Orca The day the Great White sharks disappeared

Richard Peirce

Great White sharks, attracted by an offshore seal colony, have brought success to the adjacent fishing village of Gansbaai along the southern African coast. A flourishing shark-cage diving industry has sprung up, bringing jobs and money, and so benefiting almost the entire community.

Then one day, the sharks disappear. Slowly at first, but with gathering momentum, the word spreads: cage diving off Gansbaai can no longer promise the thrill of an encounter. Entrepreneurs and scientists alike are baffled.

But it's not long before shark carcasses start washing up on the beaches. These, together with some coincidental sightings of another apex predator in the vicinity, are the first leads to the possible causes and culprits.

Saam Errieda du Toit

Saam is die Suid-Afrikaanse huiskoskampioen Errieda du Toit se uitsonderlike kookboek oor ons noue verhouding met die nederige gemeenskapsboekies, die invloed daarvan op ons koskultuur en die kenmerkende gees van samewerking.

Errieda verdiep haar in 150 boekies wat oor 100 jaar uitgegee is en vorm ’n spesiale band met die resepte op die omkrulblaai vol kosvlekke uit dié versamelings.

Die verskeidenheid resepte is ruimhartig, gasvry en vol warmte soos die huiskokke wat dit oorspronklik in die boekies gedeel het – die aanhouers (langasem-resepte wat bly oorleef), die flatervryes (epiese staatmakers), kos vir oor-en-weer-kuiers en retrogunsteling wat ons as erfeniskos koester.

Met net die regte balans tussen nostalgie, modernisering van ou resepte en boeiende vertellings is Saam dié boek vir huiskokke, kookboekversamelaars en almal wat nuuskierig en entoesiasties is oor Suid-Afrikaanse kos.
