5 minutes with Ashok Banker

A Kiss After Dying is an utterly compulsive, totally original thriller with a truly jaw-on-the-floor twist; in author Ashok Banker's own words, a "millennial revenge thriller." Banker writes here about his protagonist in the book, the one-of-a-kind Hannah.

"The idea for A Kiss After Dying began with Hannah, of course. She's as real a person as any; she just happens to live only on these pages for now.

Her story comes from my own life experience, being from a marginalised community in India. Today, India has the third-largest number of billionaires in the world; throw a stone and you'll quite likely hit one with a host of sordid secrets. Behind every great fortune is a history of blood. I've seen first-hand what those from majority groups do to those in the minority - and how they get away scot-free. How authorities look the other way or, at times, actually even encourage this class of crime.

To me, the best crime fiction comes from social injustice seen through a deeply personal lens. As a crime story first and foremost, the social elements used in the book only enrich and inform the background.

So, what if one victim decided she wasn't going to sit quietly and take it? What if she set out to avenge herself and her family?

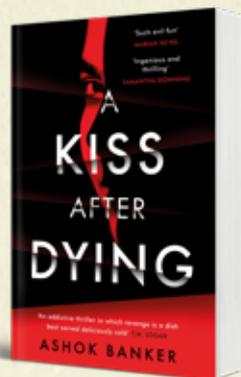

Hannah grew in my imagination over time, until one day she stood before me, fully formed, and ready to jump into action.

Like Hannah, my family is Anglo-Indian and Portuguese Goan on my mother's father's side. I drew freely from my own culture and background but

“To me, the best crime fiction comes from social injustice seen through a deeply personal lens.”

Hannah is very much a person of her age and time. She is an avenging angel on the cusp of Gen Z and Millennial, who is not just going to sit by and let a billionaire get away with what he did to her family - and quite likely, countless other families over time. She's a brown Indian woman in the 2020s, kicking butt and taking names. Ricky Manfredi, a rich, self-centred Influencer, is unfortunate enough to be the first butt. Once she sets her sights on him, he doesn't stand a chance.

But she's not a pulp-novel assassin: she's a real, vulnerable young woman with feelings and empathy. Like all revenge stories, the blind rage of vengeance can't overcome the experience of intimate human contact. Once she gets to know her chosen prey, she has to deal with all the complicated emotions and attractions of a flesh-and-blood human being. That changes her. It affects her mental health and her choices that go into her second act of revenge - and her third. The result is that the journey deviates quite a bit from the plan, leading to dark, unexpected places. All through the lens of a socially connected young Indian woman with deep family bonds. I've never read a person like Hannah before and it was a great pleasure and privilege to follow her on her journey. She's the captain of this ship; I was just along for the ride."

5 minutes with Richard Osman

The biggest debut novelist in recent history, Richard Osman writes on building up the courage to write his bestseller, The Thursday Murder Club and the inspiration behind it

"I was inspired to write The Thursday Murder Club while visiting a relative who lives in a beautiful retirement community in the heart of the British countryside. This place had it all: green fields, gleaming lakes, ancient woodland and a state-of-the-art gym and swimming pool. It even had a steam room and Jacuzzi, for goodness' sake. You have to be over 65 to live there, but I promise, if you visited today, you'd want to stay.

Now, we were having lunch on the restaurant terrace. It was early (they eat very early there) and I looked down at my phone and saw that I had no reception. So there I was, sitting in this beautiful place with no mobile reception, and I suddenly thought, 'Well this would be an amazing place for a murder.'

Rather than commit one, I thought I should probably write about one instead. Then, as I looked around at my fellow diners, these incredible people who had led incredible lives, I had another thought. If there was a murder here, I bet this lot would solve it. And so 'The Thursday Murder Club' was born. Four people in their seventies and eighties – Elizabeth, Joyce, Ibrahim and Ron – who would meet up once a week to try and crack unsolved murder cases. They would talk over these cold cases, usually with a bottle of wine or two, until one fateful day a real-life murder falls into their laps.

I knew I liked the idea. It had been waking me up early, keeping me company on the bus, and interrupting me during meetings. However, I would only have to read a wonderful novel by crime novelists Kate Atkinson or Ian Rankin to lose heart. I could never write like them.

“No one else is going to write the book that's in your head right now, which seems a shame. So why not have a go?”

But then I made a deal with myself: I chose to ignore the voice of doubt for a month. Just one month. I made myself sit down for two hours a day and write. For me it was 1,000 words at a time. I didn't go back and revise the previous day's work. I didn't fuss over the opening sentence. And then, after 18 months there it was: 90,000 words; an actual novel.

Quite possibly the proudest – and hardest – creative achievement of my life. It was a long, difficult, painful, frustrating, exposing process but taking it two hours at a time, 1,000 words at a time made it a little closer to manageable.

Of course, as lots of people will tell you, you really don't have to write your novel at all. No one is walking into the book shop and saying: "I tell you what this place needs... another book." But no one else is going to write the book that's in your head right now, which seems a shame. So why not have a go? I can't begin to describe the buzz, which should give you an idea of my skills as a novelist.

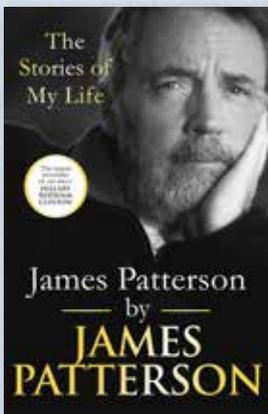

As for those retirees who inspired the series, fortunately, it was enjoyed by all. Phew! But I am sworn to secrecy as to where this retirement community is..."

Gretel is faced with a chance to expiate her guilt, grief and remorse and act to save a young boy - for the second time in her life. But to do so, she will be forced to reveal her true identity to the world. Will she make a different choice this time, whatever the cost to herself?

The Errors of Dr Browne
Mark Winkler

In Bury St Edmonds, 1662, two widows are charged with acts of witchcraft. Doctor Browne is known as a philosopher, natural scientist, logician and medical doctor, yet despite his best efforts, the trial hinges on the admissibility of 'spectral evidence': the accused women are deemed to have the ability to exploit their victims through dreams, which will set a legal precedent for the infamous Salem, Massachusetts witch trials thirty years later.

Conflicted by his deeply held religious beliefs and his confidence in the validity of emerging scientific methods, Browne is left to ponder the true nature of culpability – and whether the most insidious evil is, in fact, that which we carry within.

Inkommers is 'n eietydse verhaal, 'n kroniek van die Afrikaners – die familie, nie die volk nie – wat al van die Groot Trek se dae af wydsbeen oor die vuil Vaal in die Vredefortkoepel boer. Die Afrikaners is hoeka aan die min word en hulle wil hulle omgewing tot 'n erfenisgebied verklaar kry. Dan is die liefde ook nog aan die uitsterf. Die Strandveld loop dik van die stories. Veral stories oor Verlatenfontein en die tyd toe die Brewisse daar gebly het. Oor Bert Brewis en sy humeur en oor sy beeldskone Engelse vrou. Ook oor hulle twee dogters – die oudste te vaal om hubaar te wees, die jongste ’n bottende skoonheid.

Ras Erasmus ken feitlik elkeen van hierdie Verlatenfontein-stories soos oortel deur sy ouma Kate. Op haar doodsbed laat sy hom drie beloftes aflê. Die kans doen hom voor om hierdie beloftes na te kom toe hy ’n kwotasie moet uitwerk vir die restourasie van die opstal op Verlatenfontein nadat dit vir die vierde keer in honderd en twintig jaar net halfpad afbrand – raaiselagtig genoeg, telkens op ’n betekenisvolle datum.

Maar hy het nie rekening gehou daarmee dat daar ’n huurpag op ’n gedeelte van die plaas bestaan nie. Die huurpag is duur gekoop – nie soseer met geld nie, maar met ’n veel duurder kommoditeit. Eers toe Georgie Rabie Verlatenfontein toe moet vlug ná ’n twiet wat haar baie suur bekom het, hoor sy wat die ware storie is agter die huurpag wat haar peetma hou. ’n Huurpag waaragter Ras Erasmus aan is, en nie net hy nie.

HISTORY & POLITICS

Putin

Philip Short

Philip Short's magisterial biography explores in unprecedented depth the personality of its enigmatic and ruthless leader and demolishes many of our preconceptions about Putin's Russia. Since becoming President in 2000, his obsession has been to restore Russia's status as a great power, unbound by western rules. What forces and experiences shaped him? What led him to challenge the American-led world order that has kept the peace since the end of the Cold War?

On closer examination, much of what we think we know about him turns out to rest on half-truths. This book is as close as we will come to understanding Russia's ruler.

The monumental biography of the most influential leader on the world stage in the last twenty years

Dear Comrade President
Andre Odendaal

In his annual presidential address on 8 January 1986, ANC president Oliver Tambo called on South Africans to make apartheid ungovernable through militant action. But unknown to the world, he had also on that very day set up a secret think tank in Lusaka.

Guided by a brilliant analysis by Pallo Jordan, Tambo instructed his new think tank to prepare a constitutional framework for a liberated, non-racial, democratic South Africa.

The seven-member team, including Albie Sachs, Kader Asmal and Zola Skweyiya, started deliberating and reporting to Tambo.

Drawing on the personal archives of participants, Dear Comrade President explains how this process, which fundamentally influenced the history of contemporary South Africa, unfolded. This book provides paradigm-changing insights into the purposeful first steps taken in the making of South Africa's Constitution.

Colditz
Ben Macintyre

In a grim Gothic castle on a German hilltop, an unlikely band of prisoners plotted a daring escape from the clutches of their Nazi captors. Or so the story of Colditz has gone, unchanged and unchallenged for 70 years. But that tale contains only part of the truth.

The astonishing inside story, revealed for the first time in this new book, is a tale of the indomitable human spirit, but also one of snobbery, class conflict, homosexuality, bullying, espionage, boredom, insanity and farce. With unprecedented access to declassified archives, previously unseen photographs and private papers, Macintyre reveals a remarkable cast of characters hitherto hidden from history.

The Presidents
Richard Calland and Mabel Sithole

Since 1994, South Africa has had five presidents who have varied greatly in style and character, despite all coming from the same political party. How do they compare? How did they handle the crises they faced? What effect did they have on the country?

As the ANC's next elective conference approaches and Cyril Ramaphosa seeks a second term as president, it is a perfect time to think critically about the role that presidential leadership plays in our lives and in history. To this end, The Presidents provides an honest assessment of the five post-democracy presidents - Mandela, Mbeki, Motlanthe, Zuma and Ramaphosa - examining their strongest qualities and greatest weaknesses in the context of the momentous challenges they faced.

The Boy, The Mole, The Fox and The Horse:
The Animated Story

Charlie Mackesy

This captivating edition will bring to life a world inhabited by four unlikely friends with full-colour artwork from the animated film.

Follow the journey of a curious boy, a greedy mole, a weary fox and a wise horse as they share important life lessons. A book for all ages to treasure.

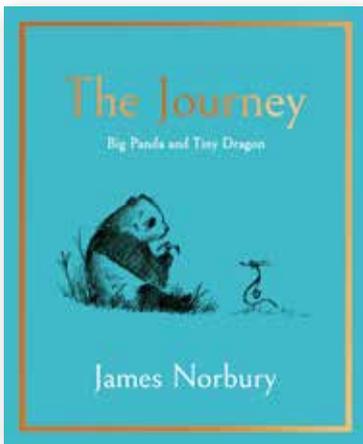

Hardcover • R475 • 9781529197686 • December

CHARLIE MACKESY

What parts of you, and all of us, does each animal represent? The boy just represents the bit of me that wants to know why we're alive and what we're meant to be doing and doesn't really know much. The mole is me, always hungry, thinks I'm clever but I'm not, thinks I'm wise but I'm not, always wants to eat stuff.

The fox is, like I suppose we all are, hurt in some way, it's the bit of me that's quite withdrawn, fearful of trusting. The horse is the bit of me, which everyone has, which is the slightly wiser, the spiritual side of us, but also vulnerable. So they all represent different parts of us, or me.

In his new masterpiece, renowned physician, addiction expert and author Gabor Maté connects the dots between our personal suffering and the pressures of modern-day living. ## TRUE CRIME

The Profiler Diaries Vol. 2 Gérard Labuschagne

In this second instalment of the bestselling The Profiler Diaries, former South African Police Service (SAPS) head profiler Dr Gérard Labuschagne, successor to the legendary Micki Pistorius, recalls more of the 110 murder series and countless other bizarre crimes he analysed during his career. An expert on serial murder and rape cases, Labuschagne saw it all in his fourteen and a half years in the SAPS. The new chapters include tracking down a prolific serial stalker, psychologically assessing a schoolboy Samurai killer, linking the murders of two young women in Knysna, and apprehending a serial murderer of sex workers, among other intriguing – and often terrifying – cases. As Labuschagne says, catching a killer is one thing; getting them convicted in a court of law is an entirely different ball game. This book shows how it is done in fascinating detail.

1 minute with Gérard Labuschagne

One of my most challenging cases was the murder of Andrea Venter by Gerhard Jansen van Vuuren in May 2011.

What should have been an open-and-shut case has been dragged out for 11 years. Initially, we successfully opposed bail, but this was appealed and granted by the High Court a few months later, despite our concerns. Jansen van Vuuren then fled the country a week before his 2013 trial, and we had to track him down, eventually finding him in Brazil, where he was subsequently arrested. Then, while awaiting extradition, about two years after his Brazil arrest, he was suspiciously released by a judge one night, and it was another four years before we could track him down again. He was eventually extradited back to SA in 2020 and convicted in 2022. I haven't bore the brunt for my work, touch wood, but I'm very aware that Jansen van Vuuren really doesn't like me.

In fact, I know quite a few people in correctional services and from them I have heard of a few convicted suspects in whose cases I testified (typically at sentencing) who still speak about me in not so friendly terms. It comes with the territory. I never saw it as my goal to make everyone feel good and happy; the goal is to solve crime.

The same can be said for working with police officers and investigators. It can be challenging to balance independent thinking while cooperating with a host of other professionals, but everyone has something to contribute. You just have to make sure that peoples' ears and minds are open to what you have to say, which is a skill on its own. I was always interested to hear the views of others in the team, and when you show people that you want to listen to their view, it's easier to express your views, too. It did also help that I was a Brigadier... people kind of have to listen to what you say.

It is difficult to step away from the job with this kind of work, especially while I was in the police. It's never ending. There are always cases that need attention and crime scenes and arrests don't only take place during office hours. You can never really step away, but you need to focus on positive things like family and friends. And holding on to the hope that people will start focusing more on doing what's good for society. We could all benefit from having a more caring society."

Terry Pratchett:
A Life With Footnotes:
THE OFFICIAL BIOGRAPHY
Rob Wilkins

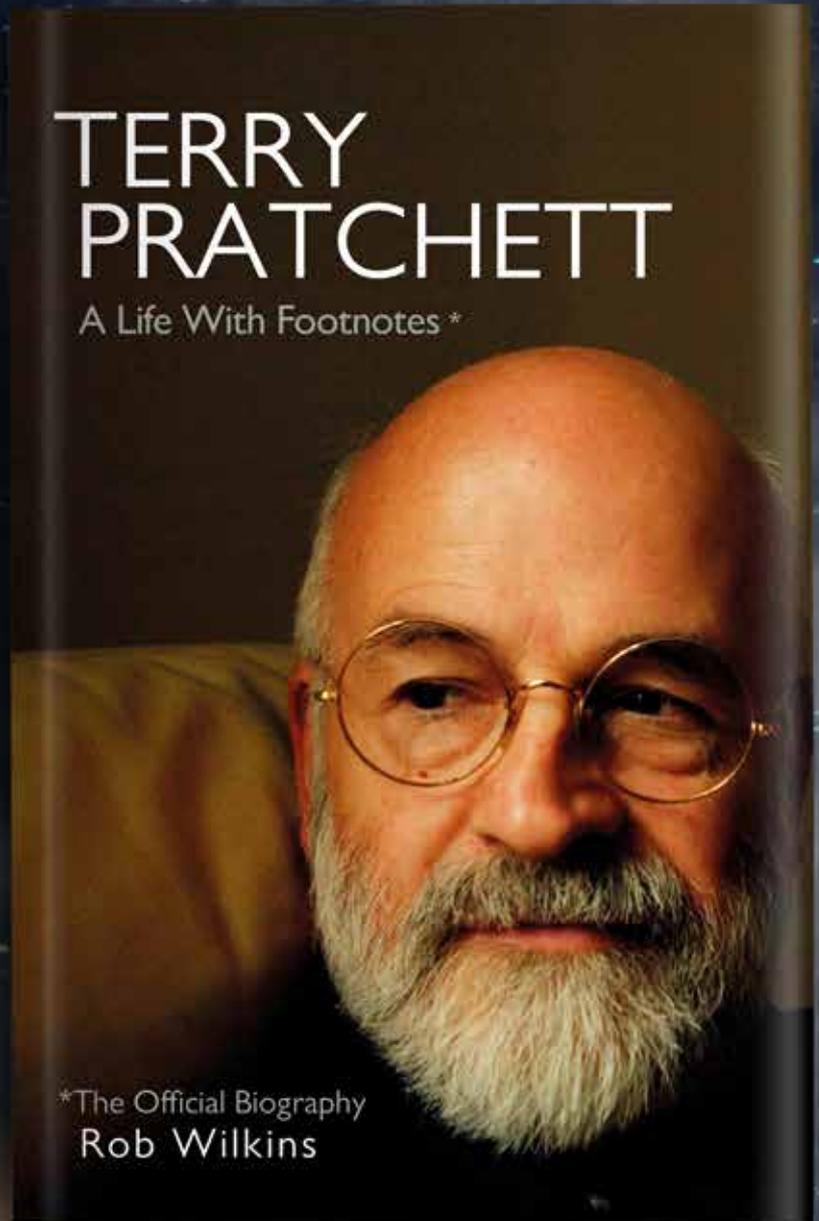

At the time of his death in 2015, award-winning and bestselling author Sir Terry Pratchett was working on his finest story yet – his own.

At six years old, Terry was told by his headteacher that he would never amount to anything. He spent the rest of his life proving that teacher wrong. At sixty-six, Terry had lived a life full of achievements: becoming one of the UK's bestselling writers, winning the Carnegie Medal and being awarded a knighthood for services to literature.

Following his untimely death from Alzheimer's disease, the mantle of completing Terry's memoir was passed to Rob Wilkins, his former assistant, friend and now head of the author's literary estate.

Drawing on his own extensive memories, along with those of Terry's family, friends, fans and colleagues, Rob recounts Terry's extraordinary story – from his early childhood to the literary phenomenon that his Discworld series became; and how he met and coped with the challenges that 'The Embuggerance' of Alzheimer's brought with it.

No Retreat, No Surrender
Oscar Chalupsky with Graham Spence

Few athletes hold a record comparable to that of Oscar Chalupsky. He made history at the age of fifteen as the first person to win both the Junior and Senior Ironman titles, he was the country's spokesman at the 1992 Barcelona Olympics, and he is a multiple-times global surfski champion, having won the internationally famous Molokai to Oahu World Surfski Marathon championships in Hawaii a record twelve times - his most recent victory being at the age of forty-nine.

Then, in 2019, he was diagnosed with multiple myeloma, an incurable bone marrow cancer and told he had six months to live. But as with everything else Oscar does, he is determined to emerge victorious. He continues to paddle kayaks, play golf, and with a combination of medical treatment, exercise, iron determination and unconquerable optimism, he has defied every doctor's prediction to date.

In this book, Oscar relives some of his most exhilarating and nail-biting races, and shares the lessons he has learnt.

No Retreat, No Surrender is an uplifting account of grit, perseverance, talent and attitude, vividly capturing the determined mindset of an inspirational sporting legend.

Hoerkind Herman Lategan

Herman Lategan word wyd gerespekteer as joernalis, en is beide berug én beroemd vir sy uitgesprokenheid en kwinkslae oor alles onder die son. In Hoerkind vertel hy sy lewensverhaal uit die hart uit, sonder doekies omdraai.

Van jongs af het hy soos 'n weggooimens gevoel, want hy is deur grootmense wat die lewe op onvaste voet betree het, van die een stel hande na die ander aangegee. Op 13 beland hy in die kloue van 'n geslepe pedofiel, en pas na sy 18de verjaarsdag word hy sonder seremonie voor die deur van sy vervreemde alkoholis-pa afgelaai.

Ná skool doen hy sy diensplig, maar word oneerful ontslaan en kom hy in New York aan, waar hy vir Andy Warhol op straat agtervolg en met 'n "smorgasbord van eendagsvlinders" kattermaai.

Terug in Suid-Afrika maak Herman opgang as joernalis wat na die wydste hoeke van die wêreld reis. As volwassene voer hy 'n stryd met drank en dwelms en is 'n ruk lank haweloos. En vir menige werkgewer word hy die nagmerrie wat hulle die ergste vrees.

Hoerkind is 'n aangrypende relaas oor verlies én oorwinning wat jou sal laat lag, en jou hart 'n paar keer breek.

Die sondes van die vaders

Herman Lategan se lewe het baie anders verloop as wat 'n mens dalk sal dink, lees jy sy skerpsinnige - en soms gewoon snaakse - rubrieke en artikels. In Hoerkind deel hy sy verhaal - die seer en haat, maar ook die baie liefde langs die pad.

"Die eerste keer dat ek in Lutzville aangekom het, was my ma en haar nuwe man, Christie Kruger, op die perron. Almal het vriendelik gelyk, maar ek kon aan my ma sien daar was iets fout.

Dit was die eerste keer in ses maande dat ek haar gesien het. Haar spontane, oop gemoed het nie deurgeskemer nie. Ons het in 'n ou bakkie geklim en begin ry na die plaas, Dassieshoek. Sy het senuweeagtig aan haar trouwing getorring, dit om en om gedraai.

Daar is nie baie in die bakkie gesels nie. Christie was 'n knorrige man met 'n harde gesig. Hy het die uitdrukking van 'n kadawer gehad. By die plaas aangekom is ek na die spaarkamer geneem. Die plaashuis het 'n uitsig oor wingerde gehad.

Waar die plaas geëindig het, was die Olifantsrivier. Daar was 'n koppie met werkershuisies.

Buite was daar 'n tipe afdak van riet en 'n bank. Hier het ek en my ma gesit en gesels. Toe ek en sy daar gaan sit, vertel sy my ek gaan een week by hulle bly, en dan een week by my oma op die dorp.

Ek was lief vir my oma, maar ek het mos vir my ma kom kuier. Vinnig het ek agtergekom hoe die wind waai. Christie het nie van kinders gehou nie. My ma wou my beskerm, veral in die aande. As die son sak, het hy sy eerste dop gegooi, KWV-brandewyn met water. Ná 'n paar drankies het hy begin kerm en skree. Teen hierdie tyd het ek agtergekom my ma drink ook veel meer as gewoonlik.

Hy het op haar geskel en gevloek, haar 'n hoer met 'n hoerkind genoem. Dit is nou ek, die hoerkind. Die sondes van die vaders en die wiel wat draai.

Die nagte op Dassieshoek was hel, 'n geskel en 'n gevloek en gereeld gewelddadig. My ma het baie by my kom inkruip as ek gaan lê het, uit vrees vir wat Christie kan aanvang. Sy het my vertel hy het haar bedrieg. Voor die troue het hy hom voorgedoen as so 'n wonderlike man en belowe dat hy haar 'n nuwe lewe op die plaas gaan gee. Skaars 'n maand na die huwelik het sy agtergekom die man is ernstig van lotjie getik. Ek was in die aande oorweldig deur stres.

Een nag het ek wakker geword en iets teen my boude gevoel. Dit was Christie wat my van agter af probeer penetreer het. My ma het hom hard oor die kop geslaan, waarméé kan ek nie onthou nie. Hy het opgestaan en 'n byl gaan haal. Ons het my kamerdeur gesluit. Hy het wild aan die deur se kosyne gekap.

Ons kon sien hoe die byl deur die houtdeur slaan. Ons het vinnig die venster ooggemaak, uitgeklim en weggehardloop. Op teen die koppie na die werkers se huisies. Dit is hier waar ons kon skuil. Dit is ook hier waar my ma gereeld kom wegkruip het.

Daar was 'n wonderlike vrou en man, genaamd Anna en John Takkies. Albei was bekend as Anna John, die twee name het een geword. Hulle het komberse gehad waarop ons kon lê totdat dit veilig was om weer terug te gaan na die plaashuis, meestal eers die volgende oggend. Die gasvryheid van hierdie arm werkers na wie Christie as die "volk" verwys het, bly my tot vandag toe by. Ons het dikwels saans by hulle gaan sit om hul vuurtjie en na hulle stories oor die ou dae geluister."

Mr Entertainment:
The Story of Taliep Petersen

BURCHELL'S African Odyssey

Retracing the return journey 1812-1815

Roger Stewart
Marion Whitehead

Burchell's African Odyssey Retracing the return journey 1812-1815

Roger Stewart & Marion Whitehead

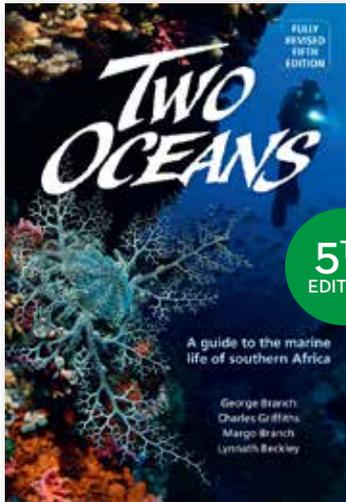

The English botanist William Burchell arrived in Cape Town in June 1811 to explore the flora and fauna of the vast southern African interior. Over a four-year period, and travelling in a custom-built ox wagon, he amassed an astonishing 63 000 specimens of plants, bulbs, insects, reptiles and mammals – many not previously documented for science – as well as over 500 paintings and illustrations.

While the outbound trek is well described in Burchell's famous Travels in the Interior of Southern Africa, little has been published about the challenges and discoveries made on his return journey to Cape Town, from 1812-1815. This pioneering book traces the homeward leg of Burchell's epic odyssey.

RECIPE EXTRACT

Chicken, pineapple and 'nduja bake

4 skin-on, bone-in chicken thighs, at room temperature
4 cloves of garlic, peeled and crushed with the side of a knife
1 medium onion, halved and very thinly sliced on a mandolin
½ large, extra-ripe pineapple, peeled (300g)
4 sweet tangerines (or 2 oranges), squeezed to get 100g juice (see notes)
100g chicken bone broth, stock or water
2 tablespoons double cream
5g fresh coriander
1 lime, cut into wedges

'NDUJA AND CHIPOTLE PASTE

50g 'nduja paste/spread
2 tablespoons olive oil
2 teaspoons tomato purée/paste
½ teaspoon chipotle flakes
½ teaspoon paprika
¾ teaspoon fine salt
about 20 twists of freshly ground black pepper

Preheat the oven to 180°C fan/200°C.

Put all the ingredients for the paste into a large bowl and mix together. Add the chicken, garlic and three-quarters of the sliced onion and mix well so everything is coated evenly. Tip the onions and garlic into a 28cm ovenproof cast-iron skillet or similar-sized baking dish and spread out. Place the chicken thighs on top, skin side up and spaced apart.

Cut the pineapple into 4 rounds, then cut each round into quarters, removing the hard core (you should have about 300g). Add the pineapple to the bowl with the remnants of the paste, mix to coat with whatever's left there, then arrange the pineapple around the chicken.

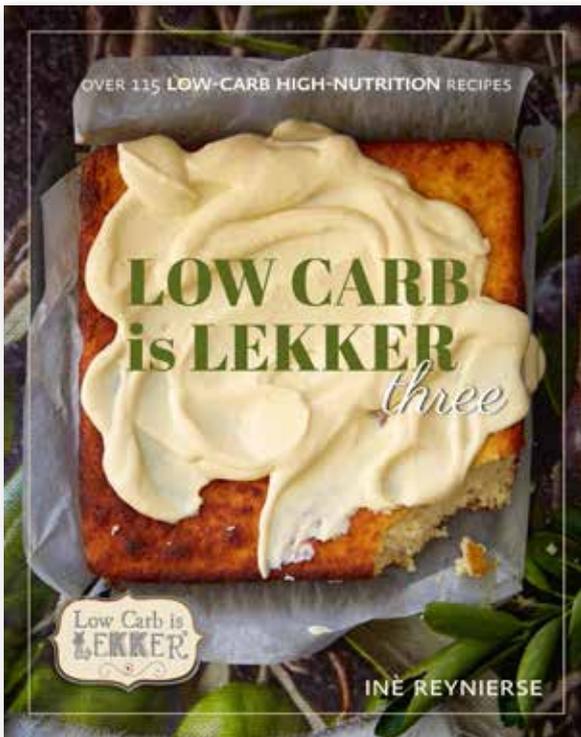

Pour the tangerine juice around the chicken (don't get the skin wet), then bake for 20 minutes. Remove from the oven and pour the stock or water into the pan around the chicken (again, don't get the skin wet). Return to the oven for another 20–25 minutes, or until the chicken is cooked through and the skin is browned and crispy. If you have a blowtorch, use it to char the pineapple a little.

Drizzle the cream into the sauce. Toss the coriander and the remaining sliced onions together with a tiny bit of oil and salt and arrange on top. Serve from the pan, with the lime wedges alongside.

NOTES

- Marinate the chicken in the 'nduja and chipotle paste up to 2 days ahead, but don't mix in the onion and garlic until you're ready to bake.
- I use tangerines over oranges as they have a more complex, floral flavour, but feel free to use oranges if that's easier (use fresh fruit, though, not juice from a bottle or carton). If your tangerines/oranges aren't particularly sweet, you may want to add some maple syrup or honey – do this when you add the stock or water.

Die onsiglike wêreld van engele

Jaco Scholtz

Engele bestaan werklik, al kan ons hulle gewoonlik nie sien nie. Maar wat doen engele, waar woon hulle en watter rol gaan hulle in die toekoms speel? Die onsiglike wêreld van engele fokus nie net op die heilige engele nie, maar ook op Satan en sy gevalle engele wat ná hul skepping téén die Skepper gekies het.

Hierdie boek neem die leser op 'n opwindende reis deur die Bybel: die kosmiese oorlog wat sedert Satan se val in die onsiglike wêreld van engele afspeel. Elke mens speel 'n rol in hierdie worstelstryd, veral in die laaste tye. Uitverkore engelwesens bly naby die troon van God in die derde hemel, maar soos wat die "dag van die Here" nader kom, is goeie én veral slegte engele toenemend by wêreldgebeure betrokke. Wanneer die Here van die leërskaar in sy heerlikheid kom en al die heilige engele saam met Hom, sal die onsiglike dan siglik word?

Deur die jare het sy ontdek dat haar gebede en gesprekke met die Here verdiep en meer intiem word wanneer sy dit neerskryf. Die lig van Sy nabyheid: Gebede wat jou naderbring aan God se hart bevat veertig van hierdie tere, eerlike gebede vir werklike situasies wat jou aanmoedig om jou eie gebedslewe te verdiep deur aanbidding, belydenis, danksegging en voorbidding.

Profesie-Bybel Nuwe Testament

Die Profesie-Bybel Nuwe Testament is die volledige 2020-vertaling van die Bybelgenootskap van Suid-Afrika se Nuwe Testament saam met 50 artikels oor profesie – 'n eerste in Afrikaans!

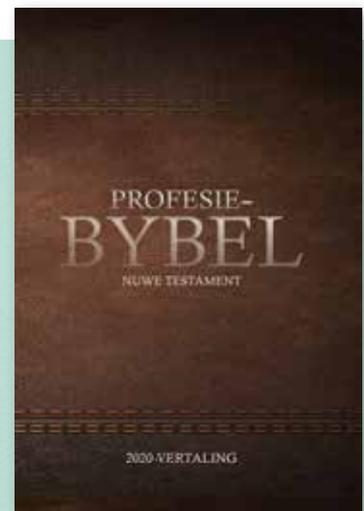

Elke Nuwe-Testamentiese Bybelboek is vergesel van 'n inleiding wat fokus op die profetiese inhoud en belang van daardie boek.

Die 50 artikels dek profesieë en sluit temas in soos geheime en profesie, die Kerk en profesie, die laaste dae, tekens van die tye, die Antichris, die merk van die dier, die Nuwe Jerusalem en veel meer.

Profesie beslaan 'n groot gedeelte van die Bybel. 'n Bietjie meer as 'n kwart van die Skrif was profeties toe die Heilige Gees dit geïnspireer het. Vervulde profesie wys dat God getrou is om sy beloftes na te kom. Dit wys ook dat die Woord van God waar is.

Profesie gee hoop vir ons toekoms in Christus.
